

Rudolf Steiner Centre
Toronto

Childhood Innocence to Grown-Up Wisdom

Friday and Saturday, November 6 & 7, 2015
Waldorf Development Conference
Keynote Dorit Winter

What does Rudolf Steiner mean by “Moral Education” and how is it working within the Waldorf curriculum? The child’s whole development is intimately shaped by the moral atmosphere created by the adults around them. Each lesson educates body, soul and spirit. Let’s find strategies that help us step more fully into this daunting task of being worthy of emulation.

“Lack of morality in any form causes the whole earth to suffer.... Preaching morality doesn't help people. But if this thought could be poured into the child's soul, incredible moral (i.e. Christ imbued) impulses would result.”

We invite educators and administrators to join us for two days of working with these powerful thoughts.

Dorit Winter is a graduate of Rudolf Steiner High School in New York City and has an MA in comparative literature. Her Waldorf teaching career includes class teaching, German, and a variety of subjects in elementary and high schools across the US. For 25 years she directed Waldorf teacher trainings in the San Francisco Bay Area and now works as a mentor and consultant.

Childhood Innocence to Grown-Up Wisdom

Friday November 6

6:30 - 7:30 Registration

7:30 - 9:30 Morality as a Force in Waldorf Education, Part I

Saturday November 7

8:45-10:30 Morality as a Force in Waldorf Education, Part II

10:30- 11:00 Snack

11:00- 12:15 Morning Discussion Groups

12:15- 12:45 Gems and Action items from each group

12:45 – 2:00 Lunch (included in conference fee)

2:00- 3:30 Afternoon artistic or movement workshops

1. Eurythmy: Dynamic Tensions - Jonathan Snow
2. Form Drawing: Between Straight and Curve- Warren Cohen
3. Needle Felting – Dianne Goldsmith
4. Singing the Spirit – Patricia McMaster
5. Transforming Straw into Gold – Susan Digby

The conference fee is $120 and includes a vegetarian lunch and morning snack

Name

Email

Address

Phone

Morning Discussion:
(Choose one)

ECE _____

Grades 1 – 4 _____

Grades 5 – 8 _____

High School _____

Afternoon workshop:

1st choice _____

2nd choice _____

Please register by telephone, email, fax and pay by cheque or credit card.
Accommodation can be arranged in local homes on a first come bases.

9100 Bathurst St. #4, Thornhill, ON, L4C 8C7 905.764.7570 info@rsct.ca